COUNCILLOR MITCHELL WOULD SHIP ALL THE JAPANESE HOME; WANTS GROWER ON W.P.T.B.

"Battling Bill" Claims "A Jap Is a Jap, Even If He Were Born In Buckingham Palace And No Good To The Country."

TEMPERATURE JUMPS

Contents That Ceiling Prices On Fruit Should Vary According To The Variety, Not Just One Ceiling For Good, Bad And Indifferent Products.

Saturday was a hot day. When North Grimsby council went into session in the afternoon, the temperature of the council chamber was 90 degrees. Two hours later, after Councillor Wm. Mitchell had completed expressing his views on the Japanese situation; W.P.T.B. incompetency to handle the fresh fruit markets, and the general insane actions of the Mackenzie King government, the mercury had climbed to 150 degrees.

"Battling Bill" was in great oratorical form and he really went to town. He contended that the Japanese were a menace to Canada, the same as the Japanese Beetle is a menace to the fruit crop. "They never should have been let into the country in the first place," argued William. Quoth he "they are not good citizens, never will be good citizens and the sooner we load the whole haboodle of them up and ship them back where they

We Congratulate Ourselves

With this issue of The Independent we enter upon our 60th year of life, having been born on the 15th day of July 1885, in a building that stood where Len Bromley's Post Office now stands.

During all that period of good times and bad times, The Independent has always stood for the best interests of Grimsby. Its founder, the late Jas. A. Livingston had great faith in the future of the then village and the Fruit Belt surrounding it. The present editor has still greater faith in "The Biggest Little Town in The World."

During that 59 years, The Independent has been praised and damned in turn, but to date none of its editors have ever been hung, out that doesn't mean that Justice was not cheated.

KINDERGARTEN GROWS

Allowance Of Public School Pupils To "Pick Fruit" Before End Of Term Smatters Of "Child Labor" Not In Best Interests Of Pupils.

Only five of the ten members attended the monthly meeting of the Board of Education, held in the public school last Wednesday evening, and the only motion passed was one authorizing payment of accounts.

Considerable discussion arose over the fact that public school pupils, including some from grade 7, had been allowed out before the end of the school term to "pick fruit." The majority of board members contended this was simply providing cheap child labour and was not in the best interests of the pupils themselves.

Kenneth Griffith, public school principal, reported that 42 pupils had left here during the year, but that 36 newcomers had taken their places. Thirty-five will enter kindergarten.

Good Real Estate Continues Active

Realtors Receiving Many Inquiries For Properties Of All Kinds — Town Houses In Demand.

Real estate in the town and district is still active and many sales are being closed or are on the point of closing.

Local realtors state that they are receiving many inquiries from all points of the province regarding town property and farm property of all kinds and sizes.

Police Round Up Fruit Thieves

Constables Bowen And Priest Gather In Three Drifters And Their Old Jalopy On Tuesday Night.

Provincial Constables Bowen and Priest have made quick work of the fruit thieves who operated in this section over the weekend. On Tuesday night they picked up Mike Kosowan, 20; Walter Kozak, 24; John Masinkiewicz, 22, three drifters who came to this district last week from the tobacco country in an old jalopy. They will be charged in county court with theft of fruit from Andrew Bain and Merton Zimmerman and the theft of tractor tools from Harold C. Woolverton.

Fruit thefts have again broken out in the district. Over the weekend the following complaints were investigated by the local detachment of provincial police:

Thirty baskets sweet cherries stolen from Andrew Bain's fruit stand, No. 8 highway west; 20 baskets black cherries stolen from the barn of Norman Nelson, Queen Elizabeth Way; 113 quart boxes of red currants stolen from Merton Zimmerman's barn, No. 8 highway west. Total value of the fruit, approximately $30.

Fire Pressure On One Line Of Hose At Saltfleet Line Should Be 42 Pounds, a Drop Of 43 Pounds From Hagar's School.

It is expected that some time tomorrow or Saturday work will have been completed on the new extension of the North Grimsby water system, in the west end, from Hagar's school to the Saltfleet line, and Fire Chief A.M. LePage and the pumper truck will test the system out at various points.

The job of laying the six inch main was finished last week and since then the contractors have been busily engaged in putting in private services for residents.

Carroll and Sharpe who have had the contract in hand, under the guidance of the township engineers MacKay & MacKay, have done a very thorough, fast job and it is not expected that there will be anything more than minor trouble, if that, when the water is turned into the system.

The new extension necessitated the laying of 8,140 feet of six inch DeLavaud centrifugally cast iron pipe in 16 foot lengths, with lead joints, nine pounds of lead being used for each joint. There are 15 fire hydrants, eight three-way and seven two-way; four shut-off valves along the line and 31 three-quarter inch services installed at Grant a Man Permit To Conduct Painting Business And Refuse Him Permit To Purchase Necessary Ladders.

The war has been productive of a lot of new laws and regulations, including some that even the people who drew them up do not understand.

In the classified columns of The Independent this week will be found an advertisement for step ladders. Not little household ladders but real big ladders.

"Mac" MacDougall, after three years overseas is granted a permit by the W.P.T.B. to reopen his paint shop and painting business. Another branch of the W.P.T.B. refuses to grant him a permit to purchase a couple of new step ladders with which to carry on his business.

Without ladders "Mac" cannot do much painting and if he doesn't do any painting what was the use of opening up business. We grant you he is six foot six but even then he is not tall enough to reach the eaves without a ladder.

There Was So Little Business To Do That Council Found Difficulty In Finding Something To Talk About — Have Cherry Feed.

If town affairs get in much better shape than they are in at present, there will be hardly any of town council holding meetings oftener than every quarter. There was so little business, other than minor routine matters, on the docket at last night's session that the worthy aldermen had a terrible time to even find anything to talk about let alone heatedly discuss.

The present Poison Ivy menace as reported from different sections of the town will be thoroughly checked by Chairman of the Board of Works and he will take the necessary steps to secure a remedy that will completely exterminate the beds.

The question of attempting to collect Poll Tax this year was thoroughly discussed and council by motion waived the tax for the year.

FACTS & FANCIES

Frank Fairburn, Jr.

FRESH FRUITS DEFY CONTROL?

Although the fresh fruit season has just barely begun, there have already been reports of serious price ceiling trouble, says The Financial Post.

The wholesalers on some markets claim that strawberries practically disappeared overnight when growers decided that the fixed maximum prices were not sufficiently attractive for the dwindling balance of the crop.

It will be surprising indeed if this sort of thing ends with strawberries, as many similar crops yet to come present exactly the same acute problems.

Aware of these, Donald Gordon and his staff wisely avoided price ceilings on fresh fruits and vegetables until consumer pressure threatened to explode last fall, when fruit crops generally were light and prices, naturally, were high. Then a limited number of ceilings were announced on some more stable lines but, gaining confidence, the authorities stepped in with both feet and the range has since been extended. Now the real headache starts.

The main difficulties are the sharply fluctuating supply and the highly perishable nature of the goods. Most berries must reach consumers within a matter of hours after picking or they become worthless and there is not much more leeway with stone fruits such as cherries, plums and peaches. Moreover, supplies, even in normal seasons, will range in a few days from zero to more than consumers can absorb and then just as quickly subside. As a further complication, the season may vary widely with each local district in Canada.

If the authorities could know in advance just when these rises and falls in supplies were to occur and on what markets, then they might do something with a sliding ceiling price, but of course Nature does not co-operate in such precise fashion.

As a result all that the WPTB could hope to do and did was to fix a ceiling price well in advance of the season for each individual fruit and hold that ceiling until the Canadian season was over when we would go back on an import basis. This sort of thing, however, only takes care of that portion of the season when there is a normal supply.

During the beginning and the tailend, when it may actually cost the grower four or five times as much to harvest the ripening fruit, then supplies will either not be harvested at all or sold to the highest bidder. The latter may be a black market operator or a direct consumer. It is hardly likely to be the regular wholesaler, whose margins of spread are under strict official control.

NATIONAL POKER GAME

With its customary flair for apt metaphor, the Wartime Information Board reads a news item in its clip-sheet "The Jack Pot Grows." The item reads:

"On the first of July, Unemployment Insurance in Canada will be three years old. At present the Fund, which has been accumulating since July, 1941, and is made up of contributions by employees employers and the Dominion Government, has gone over the $200,000,000 mark."

The metaphor is accurate in some respects. There is no guarantee that those who have put up the chips will draw anything from the pot. Under certain conditions, some employees can cash in; but many other employees, all employers and the Dominion Government (in this connection, an official euphemism for all taxpayers) are simply shoving in their chips for the fun of the game.

The house rake-off is not mentioned in the news item, but it exists in the form of salaries and overhead expense involved in operating the game.

What is not obvious at first glance is that the pot consists largely of I.O.U.'s. Money not needed for overhead and immediate claims is converted into bonds. Interest on these bonds and their eventual redemption will be the responsibility of the Dominion Government—in other words, the taxpayers. Some of them are beginning to wonder how they came to sit in the game.

In the present fiscal year it will cost over $5,000,000 in Federal taxes to pay the expenses of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. This is more than twice as much as the Commission has paid in workers' benefits in the previous three years. Administration costs or expenses during those three years were almost five times as great as the total amount paid in benefits.

Workers' benefits to the end of March last totalled $2,465,048.01. Administration costs for the same period totalled $12,187,993.64.

These administration expenses come out of taxes and are an extra charge on the insurance contributor.

ARE WE LIVING TOO FAST?

We are living in too much hurry and likely we will die the same way. In the old days if anyone missed a stage coach he was contented to wait two or three days for the next. Now he lets out a squawk if he misses one section of a revolving door.

The Arnprior Chronicle, in a timely editorial, says we are in such a hurry that we don't know where we're going half the time. "We dodge through traffic; we eat fast; talk fast; ride fast; walk fast; dance fast; live fast and die fast. What's all the hurry?" asks the Editor.

"There are still twenty-four hours in a day, even with daylight saving. We have the grandest scenery around us to be found anywhere, but we don't take the trouble to enjoy it. We dream of what we would do if we had lots of money and could retire, of the pleasures we could get out of life, if we only had the time, but all it needs is a little ambition and energy to get more out of life than we do.

We have long summer evenings when we could do a lot of things we would like to do, but we sit around the back-yard doing nothing simply because we are too listless to go out and enjoy the beauties surrounding us. So we keep on wishing and wasting the best hours of our lives."

All of us are guilty of the above offences and we think The Arnprior Editor may really have something.

A BABY IN THE HOME

A good many grandparents are squeezing some solace out of the war through having a chance to see their children's children every day of the week. Normally these old people would be fobbed off with a look at their grandchildren on Sunday afternoon or occasionally on a week night when a sitter was needed. But now, with the father overseas, and the mother at some war work, in many families it's up to the grandparents to look after the third generation.

Babies shouldn't be brought up by a committee consisting of a mother who works on the night shift, a grandmother who sometimes has difficulty remembering that it isn't her baby, and a grandfather who makes excuses to come home during the day to say "Itchy-itchy-coo" and get his index finger grabbed.

However, babies have a way of surviving even the attentions of grandmothers. And the old people, although loudly complaining that they are being run ragged, are growing up with a baby again. They have that howling, smiling, tyrannical evidence of their immortality right there in their very home with them.

'WAY BACK WHEN

Frank Fairburn, Jr.

Who remembers the days of boom time fishing on the port of Grimsby by the Hand fishing fleet. Of course the Hand boys are still fishing out of this port but the catches are small compared to the good old days. The late Johnny Hand was the pioneer fishing man out of Grimsby and as his numerous sons grew up they followed in his footsteps. In the olden days, sail and row boats were the main means of transportation out onto the lake to set the miles of nets and bring back the catch. It meant hard work and long hours, but the Hand family were a hardy race of people. Back in the days when catches were big the fall of the year was the real harvest. Then they brought in clams, now called herring, by the ton. The fish were all cleaned in cleaning houses and smoked in smoke houses on the beach with good solid hard wood being used to create the smoke. In those days Miss Eliza Hand was acknowledged to be the champion fish cleaner and scaler among all the fishing clan on Lake Ontario.

After many years of using the sail and rowing type of boat the Hand boys were persuaded to try out a boat propelled by a gasoline engine. This boat was built by the Allan boys of Hamilton, and was the first gasoline-engined boat ever used on the great lakes for fishing purposes. The use of a boat created a lot of interest among the local people who went to the lake by hundreds to see the new fangled idea at work. The acquisition of gasoline-propelled boats greatly increased the fishing facilities of the Hand boys and for some years, until fishing grounds started to become depleted, mighty loads of the tiny finny tribe were brought ashore. Thirty and a lot more years ago the fishing industry was a big item in the life of the village.

The Allan boys referred to above were sons of the late Major Allan, a retired British Army Officer, who settled in Grimsby and lived in the residence now occupied by the Misses Dolmage. The boys conducted a lumber yard and planing mill on what is now Orchard Lane, and the present barn is part of the old planing mill building. Leaving Grimsby they commenced the manufacturing of motor boats, all one lung motors in those days. Since the war I have lost track of these gentlemen. Mrs. W. B. Nettles of North Grimsby, Mrs. A. R. Whitelaw of Clinton township and Mrs. Vidal of British Columbia were sisters.

BOYHOOD ON THE FARM

Oh! just to be a boy again, way down there on the farm, away from noise and city's din, away from every harm, where the rooster woke me daily with his "cock-a-doo" alarm.

Each morning there were chores to do, the cows to milk and feed, the cornfield and the garden, too, to cultivate and weed. What fun to watch things growing when you planted every seed!

And Oh! the smell of new-mown hay, when hayin' time came 'round; then, after lunch, to rest awhile a-layin' on the ground 'neath trees so cool and shady—sure, no better place I've found.

I'd love once more to be a kid, a-bringin' home the cattle, a-switchin' flies with fringy tails, and hear the cow-bells rattle. The country's sure the place to be—I hate the city's prattle.

Oh! just to be a boy again, if only for a day! 'Twould fill my heart with sweet repose; but I am old and gray, a-settin' here a-pendin' 'er my boyhood flows away!

OLD-FASHIONED ROCKER

An old-fashioned rocker as nice as you please, With a seat of cretone and a frill, And a pot of petunias, fluted of skirt, Sitting there on the bright window-sill. A pair of old spectacles, twisted and bent, Laid aside on a fresh-open book, And a mother, as gray as an autumn night in, Tucked away in a sun-brightened nook. An old-fashioned rocker that squeaks when she rocks, By a window that looks on the street, Where the children go by on their way to a show, On a Saturday afternoon treat. An apron with lace that she crocheted herself, And a fidu and cameo pin, A place for her Bible in reach of her hand, And a footstool all faded and thin. In an old-fashioned rocker she sings as she rocks (And she looks so contented and cute) The songs that are old as the hills, but I swear That their music is sweet as a flute. She talks to herself (like a child at her play), And I wonder why, visions she sees As she whispers and smiles in her small quiet way With an afghan spread over her knees. Just an old-fashioned mother as sweet as a rose, And a face that is placid and kind, For there's peace in her heart like a river in June, And a blessed contentment of mind. And I hope when my journey is nearing its end There's a house with a rose-bordered walk And a window with curtains that face the sun And a rocker that squeaks when I rock.

How Small Your Feet Are, Grandmother!

Visitors to the costume gallery of the Royal Ontario Museum are usually amazed at the small size of most of the old shoes. Certainly many of the white kid boots and silk slippers that were worn in grandmother's time are surprisingly tiny. In those days feet were not supposed to be seen, but when the crinoline did swing out giving a fleeting glance, the smaller the foot was, the more alluring it was considered.

Girls in the 19th century were definitely smaller in every way than they are today and they did not develop their feet by taking part in active sports. Also, probably grandmother, suffered considerably from tight shoes, in order to attain the tiny foot that was such a mark of beauty in her time.

Give Hotelmen Headaches

Just as the constant dropping of water hollows a stone, so a steady trickle of souvenir towels, ash trays, spoons and forks, cleans out hotel cupboards. Perhaps some guests who have taken souvenirs may be moved to return them when they hear of the plight of the continent's hotels are in. A survey by the American Hotel association shows acute shortages. One of the chief headaches is in the linen wardrobes. Hotel managers report they need 7,400,610 hand towels, 4,789,627 bath towels, 3,811,500 pillow cases and 3,439,548 sheets. But, of course, housewives who have any of these articles with the hotel crests on them need them too. The hotel shortages also include 1,923,000 pieces of silver and 2,141,900 bed lamps. The hotels promise to forget and forgive if souvenir collectors have pangs of conscience and make even partial restitution.

Harry Lauder Met Salvation Army Lassie

Harry Lauder, a young coal miner, went for a walk one Sunday afternoon and heard the familiar music of a simple Salvation Army Open-Air Meeting. Standing on the curb, together with a small crowd of other people, he listened and looked, and these few moments marked an important milestone in his career.

He was smoking a pipe but in respect for what the meeting represented, took it out of his mouth, pushed it in his pocket, and listened to the thumping of a big bass drum.

Then he suddenly riveted his eyes on a girl in her teens—she had an appealing freshness, and was small-boned and daintily fashioned. She wore a ground-length home-made dress and prim bonnet tied with ribbons under her chin.

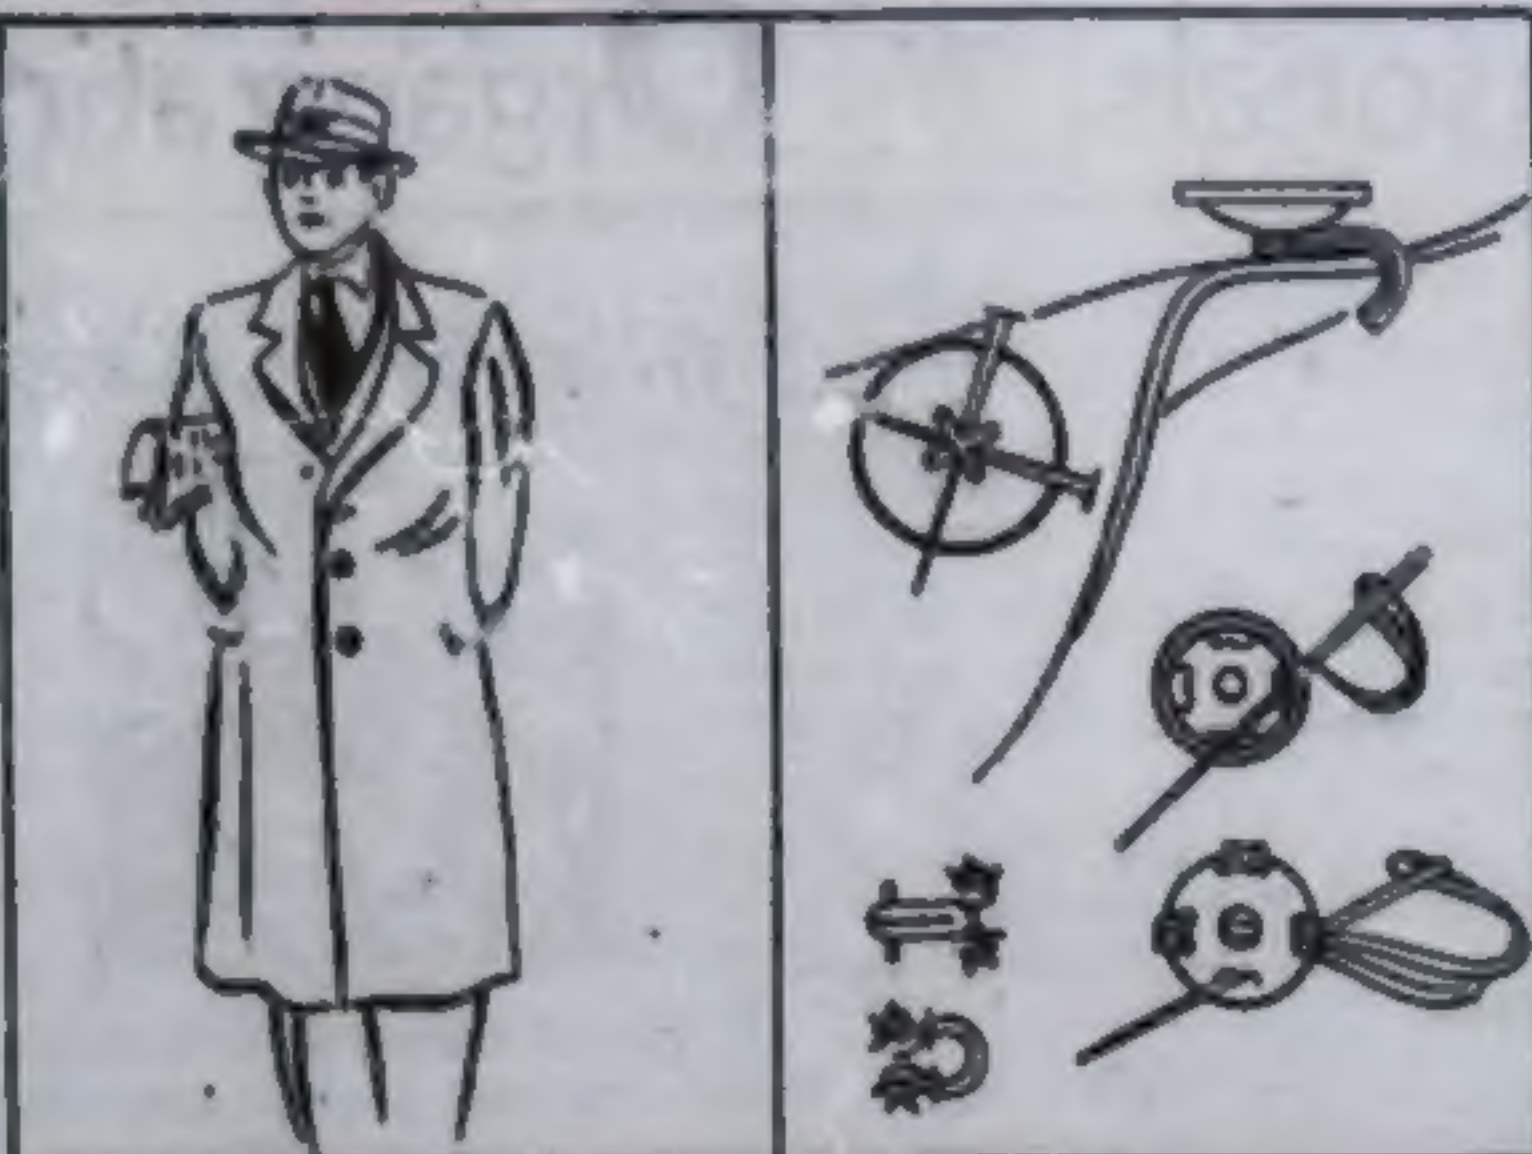

Beneath her bonnet was a sweetly sensitive face, a well-chiseled nose and a mass of soft glistening curls. Harry Lauder could not stop looking at her.

He soon sought a formal introduction, and before long told her in his own Scotch way, "Till I be as long as I live." They were married in a little Scotch mining town.

For the balance of her life, Annie Valance, the little Salvation Army girl, was to play an important role in the great comedian's life, helping him perfect his songs, acts and costumes, listening to his rehearsals in their plain little home, long before he rose to popularity and knighthood.

All through the life of this great minstrel, the plain little sweet-faced, curly-headed girl that stood in the Open-Air that Sunday afternoon was to encourage him in defeat, balance him in success, sustain him in the time of trial and difficulty in his rise "from coal dust to gold dust." From pit to palace, as coal miner and knight, Annie Valance, the little Salvation lassie, was ever by Sir Harry Lauder's side.

Buttons, Snaps, Hooks and Eyes

Use a double thread to sew on buttons. Make a knot in the thread and hide the knot under the button by pushing the needle through from the right side. Place the button in position. Lay a pin across the top to keep the thread loose, sew back and forth across the pin. Wind the thread between the button and fabric to reinforce. Secure snap fasteners with an over and over stitch. Sew each hole separately. Carry the thread on the wrong side to the next hole. Most snap-fasteners have a perforation through the centre. Sew one side of the fastener. Hold the garment closed and draw the thread through to place the second half of the fastener.

THE MIXING BOWL

BY ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Here this week—but gone next week! That's the story of many of our perishable fruits, unless we can do something about saving some for future use. Home canning now means better meals and better health next winter.

Canning in airtight jars or cans is the most widely used method for preserving fruits and vegetables. Success in canning is the result of abiding by up-to-date instructions. Good canning principles are:

1. Can only fresh food, in perfect condition.
2. Have food, jars, everything used for canning thoroughly clean.
3. Work quickly, so as to can 'freshness.'
4. Follow up-to-date instructions and time tables.
5. Make sure jars are airtight to keep out air which causes growth of moulds.
6. For water-bath canning have the water hot in the processor when you put the jars in. Count the time from the minute the water begins to boil. The water should be two inches above the top; add hot water if it boils away. Keep a cover on the wash boiler or processor.

7. Heat food hot enough and long enough to kill harmful bacteria which often causes spoilage.

8. Complete the seal of a screw top jar by pressing on the glass top while you tighten the metal ring.

9. Cool jars right end up but do not place in a draught.

10. Label and store in a cool, dark place.

The Sugar Solution

We have co-ordinated our results with those from the Dominion Department of Agriculture. One interesting table shows the approximate number of quarts of canned fruits from ten pounds of sugar:

Very thin syrup (1 cup sugar to 3 cups water) yields approximately three and one-half cups. Using one cup of syrup for each quart jar of small or sliced fruit will can about sixty-five quarts.

Thin syrup (1 cup sugar to 2 cups water) yields approximately two and one-half cups. Using one cup syrup for each quart jar of small or sliced fruit will can about forty-five quart jars.

Moderately thin syrup (1 cup sugar to one and one-half cups water) yields approximately two cups liquid. One cup of syrup fills forty quarts small or sliced fruit or twenty-seven quarts of large or whole fruit such as strawberries and peaches.

Medium syrup (one cup sugar to one cup of water) yields approximately one and one-half cups. One cup medium syrup fills thirty quarts small fruit or twenty quarts large fruit. This is suggested for canning sour cherries and plums.

Berries and currants (raspberries, blueberries, gooseberries, blackberries, huckleberries, loganberries, thimbleberries, saskatoons, red and black currants).

Pick over and clean (wash if necessary). Cover with boiling syrup. Process pint jars 15 minutes, quart jars 20 minutes in water-bath. Process tin cans (20 oz.) in water-bath.

Only pre-war pint jars may be processed in preheated electric oven at 275° for 25 minutes.

Cherries—Wash, stem, pit if desired. Pack in sterilized jars. Cover with boiling water. Process pint jars 15 minutes and quart jars 20 minutes in water-bath. Process tin cans (20 oz.) in water-bath only 20 mins.

Canning Without Sugar

Sugar does not affect the keeping quality of canned fruit. However, colour and shape of some fruits are retained better when some is added.

Berries, cherries, rhubarb and juicy plums may be canned without sugar by the following method:

Wash and crush part of clean fruit in bottom of preserving kettle. Add a little water (about 1 cup for 4 quarts) to prevent scorching. Add remaining prepared fruit. Cook until juices begin to drain out (about 2 mins. boil). Pack into jars and gently press fruit to make juice come to the top of jars. Process in water bath 30 minutes.

Take a Tip

Cooling home canned food is important.

1. Cool sealers in an upright position.
2. Leave space between sealers while cooling.
3. Place sealers on folded newspaper out of draught and do not cover.
4. Plunge tins cans into cold water and change the water once or twice so that they will cool rapidly.

Fill in your address on the cover of your ration book. It makes it easier to recover if the book is lost.

HYDRO Lightens The Way!

Ready to serve . . . 24 hours a day

● In the early days of commercial flying, hours of daylight were far too short. The mantle of night automatically cancelled flying schedules. But . . . because electrical engineers discovered ways and means of flooding runways with light . . . swift couriers of the air tonight are cutting hours off time, carrying precious burdens of humanity and vital correspondence that may mean the saving of thousands of dollars before tomorrow's workday has been completed.

Electricity has not only helped to make flying economically sound, but, with the aid of modern electronics, flying is safer. Today . . . tonight . . . airplanes are guided safely, surely on their course by a beam of electrical waves which electronics make possible. In every field of endeavor, as in the field of aviation, electricity stands ready to serve 24-hours a day.

The development of electrical devices in the field of aeronautics is but one indication of what lies ahead for the world of tomorrow. In the electrical field it can be truly said . . . the best is yet to come. Electricity is the servant of mankind. In commerce . . . in industry . . . at home and on the farm . . . it lightens our tasks, makes life more comfortable. Plan and save now, so that, when the day of peace arrives, you will be ready to enjoy more of the benefits that electricity can bring you.

Marriages

WILSON—HARDMAN

On Tuesday afternoon, July 4th, in Laidlaw Memorial United Church, Hamilton, Rev. J. A. Tuer united in marriage: Alice Georgina, daughter of Mrs. Hardman and the late Mr. William Hardman, Grimsby, and Mr. Clifford Roy Wilson, son of Mr. Wilson and the late Mr. John Wilson, Hamilton.

The bride was attired in a white costume and carried a cascade bouquet of dark red roses and Stephanotis. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dettman Kinmount, the latter wearing an Alice blue frock and floral headpiece, with red roses in her corsage bouquet.

A reception was held afterward at the Pines for the immediate relatives. The mother of the bride was attired in navy blue, while the groom's mother wore a pastel blue ensemble. The couple left on a wedding trip north. They will make their home at 83 Rothway Gardens, Hamilton.

POWELL—SPILLER

A quite wedding took place in St. Andrew's church, Grimsby, on Thursday, July 6th, when the Reverend E. A. Brooks united in marriage Berte Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Spiller of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, and James Ambrose, son of Mrs. Powell, and the late James M. Powell of Grimsby.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white embroidered organza gown, with embroidered finger-tip veil and carried a bouquet of shaded roses and Stephanotis. Her attendant was her sister, Patricia, groomed in pink sheer with headpiece and shoulder-veil to match, carrying a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphiniums.

Mr. Malcolm McCullagh, of Niagara Falls cousin of the groom, was best man, the usher being Squadron Leader James Mather, of Toronto.

At the reception held at the home of the groom's aunt, Mrs. A. Wolfenden, guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing a Redingote gown of pink and navy, assisted by the groom's mother, dressed in silver-gray and rose.

Later the couple left for Southampton, Lake Huron, the bride traveling in navy blue and white plaid taffeta, with matching hat and accessories.

The bridegroom and his best man, Malcolm McCullagh are great-grand-sons of Andrew Pettit, the pioneer Loyalist who founded St. Andrew's church at Grimsby.

The Lifebuoy Follies have played to 57,232 people, and raised $27,181 for Red Cross in Ontario. It was announced today as the talented group of professional players concluded their season. Through the generosity of Lever Brothers Limited, branches of Red Cross throughout Ontario have been fitted, as the entire proceeds of the Follies were turned over to them. Lever Brothers have paid all costs. Red Cross being required only to provide a hall. The Follies have given 104 concerts in aid of Red Cross since September 30, 1943. They will resume their schedule in September. (Note: Daphne MacFarlane, a featured musician and dancer with the troupe is the wife of P.O. Howard Etherington, R.C.A.F. overseas, son of Gordon and Mrs. Etherington, Ridge Road West, Ed.)

The largest livestock organization in the British Empire, the Holstein-Friesian Association, has just forwarded to national headquarters of the Canadian Red Cross Society in Toronto, a cheque for $12,649.82. This represents net profits which the organization, as its 1944 war effort, realized through sale of tickets on "a calf through the gate" drawing.

"Glenafon Laurel Blossom" Drawing took place at the National Holstein sale at Brampton. The better, won by J. Sharp, Moose Jaw, Sask., was donated by the Association's president, J. J. E. McCague, Alliston, Ont. Sale of the calf, immediately after the drawing, added $1600. to the amount previously raised through Dominion-wide sale of tickets.

Take your ration book along if you plan to stay at a summer hotel or boarding place for 14 days or longer.

Quebec Controls Our Army Policy

The truth is out. Quebec's control over army policy is admitted. The admission came from an important source, Premier Godbout—a boast of favors granted.

"If there is a workman in the Province who wants to work for a farmer, let him address himself, no matter what may be his position, even if he is actually in the army now, let him present himself to his employer . . . and say that he wants to work on the land, and he will be let out of the army or given exemption if not actually in the army."

In support, Senator Pafard told the same meeting:

"I know that the friendship of Mr. Godbout for the Government of Mr. King has obtained an enormous number of concessions from Ottawa, and if Mr. Godbout were not friends with the King Government, there are many young men who would have tears in their eyes."

This is the proof of Ottawa's pandering to Quebec. Here is the inside story of the plebiscite, a story Col. Ralston's bunkum-wrapped explanations do not contradict.

Don't judge a cigar nowadays by the price.

Buttons, Buttons Who Has Buttons?

Sabotage to road signs on the Queen Elizabeth Way, it has been learned, has been a serious matter this year.

Nearly 4,000 glass buttons have been stolen from signs between Grimsby and Niagara Falls during the last few months. Although a close watch has been kept, police have been unable to apprehend the culprit.

Tampering with road signs is a serious matter, particularly in cases where the signs have been placed solely for the safety of motorists.

Beamsville Boy Has Pet Porker

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, July 8.—Two months ago, L.Bdr. Ralf Brown of Beamsville, Ont., found a stray piglet and thinking it would make a meal or two for his friends at some later date, he took it back to camp. Plenty of good scraps from the men's mess table soon had the little fellow fat and growing like a weed. He now weighs something over 200 pounds—a good weight for pork chops and plenty of lean bacon. The only trouble is—no one wishes to kill the animal. In the two months the pig has become a favorite pet of the men and is their mascot with the name Salome.

Brief Sketch Of Chautauqua

Chautauqua was one of the first of religious summer schools in America. In 1874 Bishop Vincent and Lewis Miller founded this institution, and it has been going strong ever since—seventy years. President U. E. Grant visited it in 1878, and every president since—F.D.R. twice, and Mrs. Roosevelt twice. Theodore Roosevelt called it the most American thing in the U.S.A. For the past forty years it has been a musical and educational centre during the summer. The New York Symphony Orchestra and New York University hold their summer schools there.

The amphitheatre seats 5,000 and when Admiral Byrd and F.D.R. were there over 10,000 crowded the amphitheatre—a natural bowl like Red Hill or the two east of Jordan—roofed over. The roof is one acre, but open all round, as are all gatherings there—all in the open air—under tall maples, beech and hemlocks; 1600 feet up in the Alleghenies 8 miles south of Westfield, 70 miles west of Buffalo, on Lake Chautauqua.

An old bachelor should be happy. No one tells him when he mispronounces a word and he never cares to look one up in the dictionary.

Local Orangemen will celebrate the Glorious 12th in Brantford, on Saturday.

Beamsville Board of Education is erecting a special fire escape on the public school.

In an airmail letter received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, a few days ago, Flight-Sgt. Kenneth Spencer, R.C.A.F., serving in the India Command of the R.A.F., tells of receiving his first mail from home early in June.

Fire Chief A.V. Lepage underwent a minor operation in Hamilton hospital on Wednesday morning for the removal of a piece of glass from his right elbow. He received this injury about six weeks ago while fighting a fire on Fairview Road.

Farmers and fruitgrowers in the Grimsby area were disappointed Sunday over the small amount of rain which fell here. While there was a heavy downpour on all sides, the amount which fell here did no more than dampen the surface of the ground.

The death occurred at his home, No. 8 Highway, Oneida, on Tuesday last, of Samuel Shaw, for 40 years connected with the old H. G. & E. and latterly the bus lines. Sammy was well known in this district. He retired from active duty in 1940 and died in the house that he was born in 71 year ago.

Contrary to rumors floating about town, C.L. Curtis, for a short time, manager of the local A. & P. store, has not severed his connection with that firm, but rather has been transferred to Windsor as Asst. Manager of the Quaillette street store, which is the second largest store in Canada in the A. & P. chain.

Poor old Beamsville. Grimsby even has to provide jail accommodation for them. Last Saturday afternoon Chief Archer of the eastern village picked up a couple of "rubby-dubbys" and had no place to incarcerate them, so he brought them to Grimsby and Chief Turner obligingly loaned him a cell until the evening when he transported his charges to the county jail.

The Dominion government "Canada Carries On" picture shown at Moore's Theatre last week depicted the life and training of the R.C. A.F. Air Cadets. A featured member of the cast was A.C. Jackie Davis, of Port Colborne, son of a former Grimsby boy, Alex. Davis and a grandson of Eli Davis of Niagara. Parker staff, Jackie was the star of the show with his marvellous singing.

While crossing a field south of Main Street en route to work on Friday, William Stewart encountered a huge snake which struck at him several times, its fangs hitting his leather boots. While unable to identify the snake by name, he described it as being between four and five feet long. He thought he had succeeded in killing it with a stone, but when he returned a little later to get it, it had disappeared.

Miss Georgina Lally, a highly respected native of Smithville, passed away Sunday afternoon at Our Lady of Mercy Hospital, Toronto, following a lengthy illness. Miss Lally was the daughter of the late Martin and Jane Lally, pioneers of the district. Left to mourn her death are two sisters, a niece and a nephew; Mrs. Teresa McLean; Miss Josephine Lally, of Smithville; Mrs. Frank Kearns, Toronto, and M. J. Barry, Guelph.

87 Years Old

Amos H. Moyer, of Vineland, observed his 87th birthday last Thursday. Mr. Moyer was born on the farm where he still lives, and which was settled by his great-grandfather, a U.E. Loyalist. Until a year ago, he worked the 17 acres himself. He has a keen memory, and can recall when most of the land around his farm on the Vineland Town Line was covered with forest. He takes a keen interest in the war news, reading his paper without glasses. He is a faithful member of the United Church. Mr. Moyer now lives with his granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Mowhiney, who bought the farm to keep it in the family for another generation.

Navy League News

Seventy thousand filled ditty bags are needed from Ontario if Canada is to make up her quota of 150,000. Col. Arthur Kirkpatrick, Dominion Director of Comforts, Navy League of Canada, states. The number asked from Ontario is an increase of 40 per cent on last year's requirements. Bags are all available at Navy League headquarters on Main street next door to Eaton's Order Office.

Wool is now obtainable for knitting articles for Ditty Bags. Get some wool. Knit in your spare moments. By Fall you will have a garment finished.

Heat Plays Havoc With Highways

The recent excessive heat spell caused a great many expansion breaks on concrete highways throughout the district, particularly on No. 20. These breaks are mostly in C.I. pavement, laid in the days before expansion joints.

The change from moisture to extreme heat causes the concrete to expand and where there is not sufficient allowance for expansion an explosion occurs which shatters the concrete as though it had been put through a crusher. Sometimes the breaks are the full width of the pavement and other times they are only half the width.

On at least one occasion pieces of concrete heaved up 18 inches, causing an accident in which a truck overturned. This condition, highway workmen say, gives no previous warning to either motorists or motorists, a sudden explosion and the shattering of concrete being the first intimation of trouble.

The man of the hour usually does things on the minute. Jim Farley has resigned his political post in New York state. It couldn't be that politics is getting in his hair.

'CAMMYS' MAIL BAG

MAIL BAG—
Mr. Millyard:

This is to acknowledge the gift of cigarettes sent by you on the 10th of the Chamber of Commerce. They arrived today in good shape. Would you kindly pass on my sincere thanks to any others who were responsible for this kind action.

Sincerely,
Ken Hudson.

Dear Sir:

Just a few lines of thanks for the two parcels of cigarettes which I received today and I assure you they were very much appreciated. Well at last the good old summer is here again and it sure is a lot better over here now than it ever was around good old Grimsby in the middle of the summer so you will have some idea what it is going to be like here in the days to come.

Yesterday I went to Pompei to see the ruins which was destroyed by Mt. Vesuvius. When it ran over years ago also lately and the ruins has become a lot smaller. It did melt away.

Well for now cheerio and thanks again for the cigarettes.

Gratefully yours,
Ken Warner.

Dear Sir:

Your second parcel of cigarettes arrived yesterday in good condition. Many thanks to your organization for their generosity which is so much appreciated. To receive a parcel or letter from the home town makes one feel that although Grimsby is on the other side of the world, it isn't so far away after all. The only other Grimsby boy whom I know of out this way in Jack Morris stationed somewhere in India. I contacted Jack recently by mail and was glad to hear that all is well with him.

Thanking you again and best wishes to all.

Yours sincerely,
Bill Wheeler.

Ceylon,
8/5/44.

May 19, 1944.

Dear Mr. Millyard:

On 19th April I received 300 Sweet Caps from the Grimsby Chamber of Commerce, then on 6th May 300 Buckinghams, the outside wrapper showed the G.C. of C. also as the sender, but the enclosed card was blank, it was a swell surprise and a most welcome one. Thanks a lot, Grimsby Chamber of Commerce.

Every one here is tense, expecting big things to happen anyday, and I don't doubt that interest is at a high pitch at home too; it has been a hard grind and a long wait in this country building up and preparing for the final blow. The sooner the better, say I.

I have had a very vivid picture this week (mental) of what the local countryside must look like, for I imagine the blossoms are full out by now, and all the lawns and fields a fresh green.

Time is short so I must close now, with grateful thanks.

Very sincerely,
Don Bacon.

Dear Mr. Millyard:

I received 300 cigarettes sent by you this evening and I wish to extend my sincere thanks to all that made them possible and please forward my thanks as I do appreciate very much the cigarettes you have sent me.

I'm still kept very busy for what ever may be ahead and I'm sure the Canadian Army is in the highest of spirits for what is to come, thanks to people like you and clubs such as yours.

Thanking you again for your kindness. I remain,

Yours respectfully,
Alex Neale.

Hello Carm:

Many thanks again. Received 300 Sweet Caps, the other day. They arrived in good shape and they were very welcome indeed. At present I am in hospital, taking treatment on my back and legs, hope to be out soon. Give my best regards to all the committee.

Cliff McCartney.

Dear Sir:

I have just received a most welcome packet of cigarettes from you and am taking this opportunity to thank you for these gifts. You have no idea how we look forward and appreciate them.

Like all the chaps out here I'm looking forward to the time I shall be able to return to Canada, and be in good old Grimsby and personally thank you for these gifts.

I should mention that owing to an injury to my hand one of the chaps is writing this for me.

Yours very sincerely,
Guy Bernardo.

YES,
There's a SHORTAGE—

...in fact, quite a serious shortage of bottles and cartons. However, it can be overcome if customers return their empties, in the original containers, promptly to the nearest Brewer's Retail Store—as these can be used over and over again. In this way you can help maintain steady supplies for us.

which arrived yesterday, 27th Apr. 1944. They had gone via my old address to Italy and back here again but are in perfect condition in spite of their long trip.

We are being very fortunate with the weather this year. The winter was quite mild and dry and the spring is being quite sunny and bright. Rather a welcome surprise when you're expecting something very different.

While things appear about normal there is certainly increased air activity—all the other way—and the papers give the details of their good work. But there is an air of expectancy and we're just waiting for something to break. The sooner the better then we can anticipate the end more surely and get home again.

Thanks again for your continued good wishes and best regards to all,

Sincerely,
P. E. Fairbank.

Dear Camille:

Today the third package of 300 cigarettes that I have received from the Chamber of Commerce through you, arrived. As usual, the battery was suffering from a cigarette famine and I was no exception. How so many cigarettes can be sent from Canada and there still be a shortage of cigarettes will always be a mystery to me, and as one boy put it, "I can go broke for months but I just can't get along without my cigarettes." I realize that you must spend a great deal of your time keeping the cigarettes flowing over here but not a minute of it is wasted because we do appreciate the cigarettes so much.

Life in the army over here recently has been very quiet except of course for the constant drone of planes flying overhead. Fortunately they are all flying in the right direction most of the time but if by some chance "Jerry" does get over here the Spitfires make his life so miserable he recuperates for two or three weeks. Of course we're all hoping that this war will get down to earth soon so that the army will have a chance. We know that the sooner we get in there the sooner we'll be home worrying about the price of peaches and even if we have to give the peaches away it will still be a very pleasant change.

Good-bye for now and thank you again.

Sincerely,
Tommy Jarvis.

Take a Tip

1. Do not mishandle fresh greens. Wash under running water and place on clean towel, fold and shake gently.

2. Do not add too much salt to prepared greens or they will wilt as salt draws out the juices.

3. Vegetable juice may be added to boiled dressing instead of oil. To obtain the juices, grate carrots, beets or onion. Put in a piece of cheese cloth and wring out the juice.

4. It is desirable for both attractiveness and flavour to leave a small green leaf on the top of the radishes.

RUBBER TIRES

"COMPRESSED TREAD"

1. This is Goodyear's latest type of tire construction. Proper inflation of tire compresses the tread, makes it less liable to puncture and ensures longer wear. It's a pre-war feature that helped keep Goodyear "Canada's first choice in tires".

"FOUR-WAY" TRACTION

2. This is another pre-war feature. The greatest all-direction, skid-resisting tread design ever invented. The Goodyear tread provides maximum traction and safety and slow, even wear.

SUPERTWIST CORD

3. The best pre-war quality Goodyear Supertwist Cord goes into Goodyear's Synthetic tire. It's stronger, more durable cord provides extra stamina to resist bruises and blowouts.

HIGH TENSILE STEEL BEADS

4. The accurate fit of a tire on the rim that means longer tire life, depends on the beads. Goodyear's high tensile, high carbon steel beads are the best money can buy.
